I have written short stories for decades which I selectively bringing the most popular ones to novels. At times I have created jokes for morning DJs as well as contributed ideas to various comedians and celebrities. Currently authored the Vickie series of books and Southern Cross. My books have been translated into various languages and narrated by actors in several languages as well.

Working with Jack O'Halloran of Superman/Superman 2 fame as the character Non. Helping with marketing his book Family Legacy and pitching it as a movie. Also working on a Superman revival pitch movie.

Also used to work with my brother Derrel Sims marketing his website and videos as well as producing his videos. Appeared in several taped shows with him for TV. Derrel appeared on numerous TV shows paranormal related and my job was to help promote and market his website. Managed to get websites to over 300,000 hits an hour during his interviews.

Was approached by the In Search Of show with Zachary Quinto to be an expert because of my work with Derrel Sims and his paranormal research.

Also approached by producers of various production companies about my books to be considered for TV Movie/Series.

Recently approached and currently being considered to write for a TV series being developed.
